'Dumb Animals' Are Anything But Dumb In Survival Battle

NEW YORK.—Three animals, generally thought of as "dumb animals" are proving to be anything but dumb as they continue to thrive amidst the perils of civilization and the danger always inherent in the presence of man.

These "dumb" animals apparently have developed a trait which many people find it impossible to develop—the faculty of getting along with mankind. The success of the animals seems to point up these requirements if you're to get along with men:

Be sly, smart, fast, secretive.

Or wear a coat of mail, and be quick to go underground.

Or be shy and bashful, and keep out of man's way.

These might be the secrets of success stories told by three strikingly different wild animals, with one thing in common. They are all getting along with man so well that they are extending their range in the United States.

This trio is the coyote, armadillo, and whitetailed deer. It's not only a matter of their habits, but circumstances which make them successful while so many other animals face danger of extinction, says Dr. Harold E. Anthony, curator of the department of mammals, American Museum of Natural History.

Smart is the coyote. Originally it lived in the open country of the west. But now it has worked east to Ohio, and north into Alaska. It's even found east of Ohio, but got there largely through free rides from man. Coyote pups make good pets, but later may escape their owners, or be turned loose.

"Unlike the wolf, the coyote seems to thrive near civilization," Dr. Anthony said. "It is well able to take care of itself, learns how to avoid traps and can be so secretive that few are aware of its presence. Although constantly hunted, trapped and poisoned, the coyote appears to be holding its own over much of its range, even though it is becoming rare in some sections."

Wolves battle the coyote, too, particularly in the north. But the coyote usually gets out of the way, through cleverness or speed.

Man Some Day May Kill Off Thunderstorm Start

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—Man some day may kill off thunderstorms before they lash out with an "atomic bomb" punch in damaging winds, hails and lightning, according to Dr. Vincent J. Schaefer.

Even a small thunderstorm, he said, releases energy equal to several atomic bombs.

Man may also be able to create sky reservoirs of snow and get rain or snow at times where he wants it. Flying ice patrols may keep air lanes free of icing conditions. Or planes may shoot holes into dangerous clouds ahead.

All these are possible benefits from new studies of weather control, he told the United Nation's conference on conservation and utilization of resources.

Dr. Shaefer nearly three years ago found ways of producing snow or rain from certain clouds by seeding them with dry ice, silver iodide or water.

Snow or rain can't be brought down from any kind of cloud, any time. And there's no apparent way to break a drought when there are cloudless skies, or clouds with only a little water in them, he said.

Wisconsin Shop Deals Out All Sorts of Magic Items

MADISON, WIS.—Do you like to be fooled, tricked, caught on tricks, gimmicks and gadgets, or to catch others by the use of such gadgets?

If you do, you can find them along with a thousands other gimmicks, at Art Brush's magic and fun shop here.

Art, a professional magician, prefers shop keeping to a try at the big time with a road show or theater circuit, "mainly because in this business the customer is always wrong."

"Look," he says, "a customer comes in and asks for a simple trick. I work it for him, but I won't tell him how. He buys it anyway. See what I mean?"

"Not only that," he added, "but now that women have entered bars, this is the only field left solely to men."

It all started 25 years ago, when Art was six years old. A relative gave him a magic set for a Christmas present, and "the idea just stuck." Now Art is listed among the top magicians of the country.

Once he gave a command performance for an Arabian sheik. That was during the war when Art was stationed in Arabia with an army airways communications outfit. The sheik had heard about "the astonishing American who can make a man dead and bring him back again."

Art thought the sheik was probably referring to hypnotism. Apparently he was, for Art was rewarded for his demonstration with a gold threaded headdress, usually worn only by state dignitaries.

The story itself epitomizes the fine points of the flamboyant art of deception.

IN MEMORIAM

GRISHAW: In loving remembrance of our dear son, Herman, who passed away four years ago today, September 24, 1945.

God knows how much we miss him,
He counts the years we're apart,
And whispers, he only sleeps,
And when he calls us he says come,
So we will be brave, dear son,
And pray to God each day;
Your smile will guide the way.

Sadly missed by: Mother, Sis, W. F. Grishaw and Family

IN MEMORIAM

GOWIN: In loving memory of my dear mother, Ellen Ora Gowin, who died October 1, 1941.

God gave me a wonderful mother,
A mother that never grew old,
He gave her a smile of sunshine,
And molded her heart of pure gold,
He made her as near an angel,
As near as ever could be,
He made a wonderful mother,
And gave that mother to me.

Sadly missed by Daughter, Mrs. Wesley Stinnett and Children.

Bernarr McFadden Makes 'Chute Jump at Age 81

DANVILLE, N. Y.—Physical culturist Bernarr MacFadden, a venerable 81 years of age, made his first parachute jump and walked away smiling. He bailed out of the plane at 2,000 feet. His wife rolled up to the scene in a red convertible, jumped out and ran to meet her husband, shouting:

"Oh, you wonderful man, you."

McFadden stamped around climbing out of his parachute rig.

"It was wonderful coming down," he said.

A threat of arrest by state police, if he went through with his jump, dissolved. The officers apparently were satisfied when a MacFadden aide announced in a loud-speaker at the airport here that it was not an exhibition jump and asked the spectators to go away. Many of them did.

MacFadden's announced purpose was to prove that "this growing old idea is all nonsense." The jump was also in observance of his birthday, and his wife's 45th, both of which occured in the last few days.

Ringold Lady Dora Is Champion Again

Raises Litter of 10 To 447 Pounds Weaned

Ninety-six pigs raised to weaning age is the remarkable new record of America's champion production sow. She is Ringold Lady Dora, a purebred Hampshire owned by Meadowlark Farms, Inc. of Sullivan, Indiana, and the only sow of any breed to qualify for an 8th star in production registry books.

The champion chalked up her new record this spring when she raised a litter of 10 pigs, nine of them eligible for registration, to weigh 447 pounds at weaning time, 56 days.

To qualify for production registry, conducted by the purebreed associations, a sow must raise a litter of at least eight pigs to a minimum weight of 320 pounds within 56 days. They must be approved breed type, free from fault or defect and at least half of them eligible for registry. The sow gains a star in the production registry books each time she repeats the performance.

Here is Ringold Lady Dora with her litter of 10 pigs which qualified her as an 8-star sow, the only sow having such designation in registry sows of any breed. This litter weighed 447 pounds at 56 days of age. Ringold Lady was fed a ration of corn, oats, pelletized milk products and alfalfa pasture prior to farrowing and during the suckling period.

The champion has repeated it eight times, raising a total of 81 pigs to weigh a total of 6,183 pounds at the weaning age. Besides her eight litters which qualified for production registry, this sow has raised another 15 pigs in two litters which failed to qualify, or a total of 96 pigs since her first litter was farrowed in September, 1944.

According to U. S. department of agriculture reports, the national average is less than 6.3 pigs per litter raised to weaning age. It would take more than average litters to equal in numbers of pigs raised to weaning age what Ringold Lady Dora raised in her eight qualifying litters.

Worth of her litters was proven recently when her sixth qualifying litter (farrowed February 13, 1948) consisting of seven boars and three gilts, was sold for a total of $4,365.
